Do Not Go Gentle into that Good Night
by: Dylan Thomas

These are your years for failure and
for tears,
When energy and the illusion
of time,
Both in greater store when young,
combine
To keep you going in the face of fear.

-P. Carey Reid

"The harder the conflict, the more glorious the triumph. What we obtain too cheap, we esteem too lightly; it is dearness only that gives everything its value. I love the man that can smile in trouble, that can gather strength from distress and grow brave by reflection. 'Tis the business of little minds to shrink; but he whose heart is firm, and whose conscience approves his conduct, will pursue his principles unto death."

Oh, Alma Mater here we throng
And sing your praises strong.
Your children gather far and near
And seek your blessings dear.
Fair memories we cherish now
And will forever more.
Come, let us raise our voices strong.

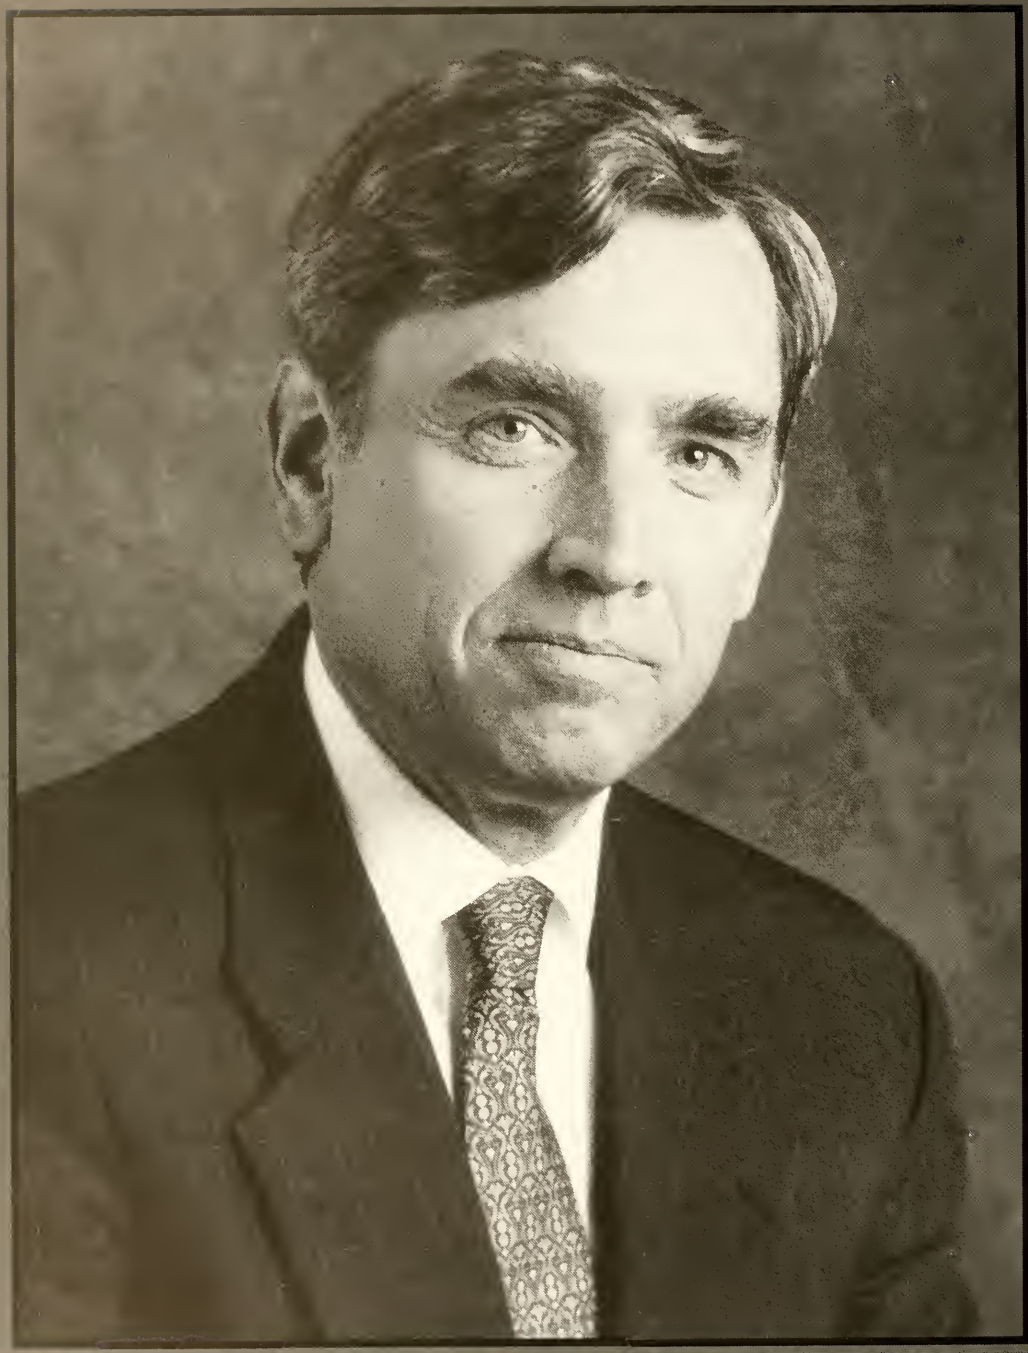
US News & World Report Ranks Northeastern University Top in Co-Operative Education

September 13, 2002 - BOSTON, Mass. - U.S. News & World Report has ranked Northeastern University as #1 in the country among programs that "require or encourage students to apply what they're learning in the classroom out in the real world." Northeastern came in at the top of the list in the category of "internships and co-ops" in the annual guide to national colleges and universities, America's Best Colleges 2003.

This year, U.S. News introduced new rankings of schools with outstanding examples of academic programs that lead to student success: "Programs that Really Work." With the help of numerous education experts, including staff members of the Association of American Colleges and Universities who are focused on quality initiatives in higher education, U.S. News identified Northeastern as the leader in efforts to integrate classroom learning with real-world experiences.

"We are enormously proud of our flagship co-op program, our other experiential education programs and the work we have done in recent years to enrich their educational benefits," noted Northeastern President Richard M. Freeland. "It is a testament to the dedication of students, faculty, staff, administrators, and employers that we are recognized as the nation's leader in practice-oriented education."

The department of cooperative education which administers Northeastern's flagship co-op program is the undisputed leader in its field, placing about 8,700 students each year with more than 3,000 co-op employers in Boston, across the United States, and in many corners of the world. Unlike most cooperative education universities, Northeastern offers co-op programs in virtually every undergraduate field of study.



Dear Class of 2003:

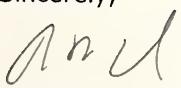
As graduates taking part in Northeastern's 101st commencement exercises, you will always hold a special place in our remarkable history. You are our first class to graduate with the knowledge that Northeastern has placed number one in the country in the U.S. News & World Report ranking of universities that combine classroom studies with work experience. That achievement, which you helped bring about, should serve you well in the years to come. With pride and pleasure, on behalf of the faculty and trustees, I congratulate you on reaching this milestone in your life and wish you every success on the journey that lies ahead.

As you leave Northeastern, I hope you see your time here as the beginning of your learning, not the end. There will always be more to know, deeper levels of understanding and higher levels of performance to attain. Keep growing and searching for knowledge, because to stop learning is, in a real sense, to stop living.

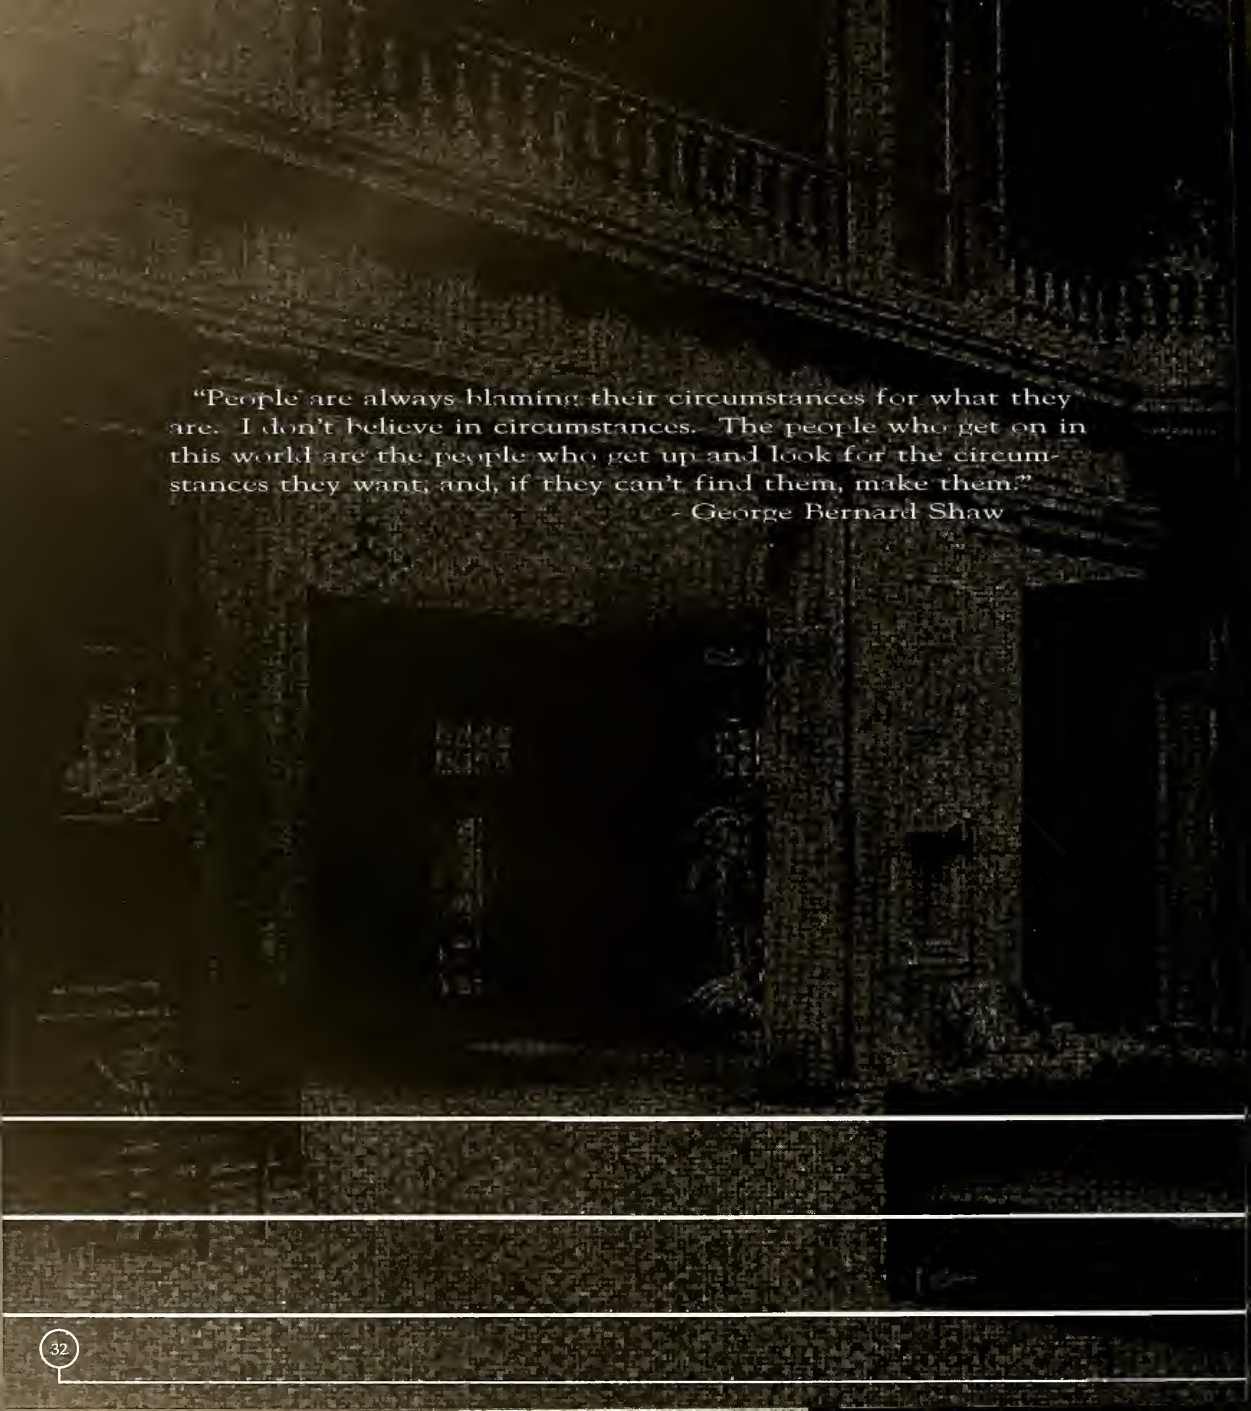
I hope you will seek wisdom and compassion even as you pursue knowledge and skill. As you discover, make use of your discoveries. As you learn, teach. As you succeed, share. What you have acquired during your years here can make your community—and all the world—a better place.

I hope, too, that you will keep a place in your heart for Northeastern. You have earned a permanent place among us. We want to be a continuing part of your life and your growth. You are joining generations of graduates, linked to one another throughout the past century. With you now in the vanguard, this University, this family of Northeastern, will flourish anew in the years to come.

Sincerely,



Richard M. Freeland
President



"People are always blaming their circumstances for what they are. I don't believe in circumstances. The people who get on in this world are the people who get up and look for the circumstances they want, and, if they can't find them, make them."

- George Bernard Shaw

2003 Awards:

Fraternity of the Year, Fraternity Man of The Year, New Member of the Year, Greek Week Champions, and Founders Award for Chapter Excellence

The Star and Crescent shall not be worn by every man, but only by him who is worthy to wear it. He must be a gentleman, a man of honor and courage, a man of zeal, yet humble, an intelligent man, a man of truth. One who tempers actions with wisdom, and above all else, one who walks in the light of God.

Building Balanced Leaders for the World's Communities

"Sigma Phi Epsilon is a Fraternity dedicated to building balanced leaders by embracing the ideals of sound mind and sound body. They are a campus leader in both atheletics and community service. Over the past year, SigEp has invested its time and efforts in a number of charities including raising over $1600 to aid in fighting Breast Cancer. As a chapter we would like to thank our advisor John Silveria and all of our alumni for their continued support." - Paul Head, President

SENIORS

A Letter of Thanks...

Afsha Bawany

Natalie Merchant and Dido had their turns. Now here is mine.

Thank you.

Thank you to the friends I made ranging from the freshmen to the graduating class and those who left before me, for teaching me that it doesn't matter what age we are, we can learn from each other and our experiences.

Thank you to my sophomore roommates who gave me back my freshman year.

Thank you to "movie Boston" as I like to call it. The city that bore the great revolutionary leaders of our time: who else but Matt Damon and Ben Affleck. Thanks for the seasons that change and that I probably will never see in Las Vegas. Thanks for fall foliage. No thanks to the excessive amounts of snow and rain, but thanks to my peacoat for keeping me warm. Thanks to my cell phone for keeping me in touch with my family and friends back home.

Thanks for spring's flowers and humidity. Thanks J.P Licks; Baskin Robbins cannot compare. Thanks to Avenue Victor Hugo Bookshop for great prices and classic books. Thanks to the culture, diversity and history that makes this a great college town.

Thanks for the Head of the Charles, an event that illustrates the "movie Boston" I'm talking about. Thanks for the smell of fried dough on a crisp winter's day in Downtown Boston. Thanks for H&M (please think about expanding to the west coast). Thanks to the Frog Pond for my less than stellar-ice skating experience. Thanks for outdoor concerts, the 4th of July at the MDC Hatchshell and Earth Fest. Thanks Au Bon Pain for your bagels, pastries and pricey mocha blasts (you may want to consider a new location in Vegas as well). Thanks to the authors who come to Boston and the bookstores that bring them in. No one reads in Las Vegas. Thanks to the chess players in the corner of Harvard Square's ABP (no one plays chess in Vegas either. Blackjack yes, chess no).

Thanks for Centennial Commons. I know it's spring when the students come out of hibernation and lay on your grass or play a game of Frisbee. Thanks for the student center where I spent most of my days on the fourth floor and came out smelling like a D' Angelo's sandwich at the wee hours of the morning. Thanks to The Northeastern

News staffers before and after me and who remain for keeping me company on those long Tuesday nights and who always gave me something to talk about. Thanks to the girls of NU who actually have fashion sense. Thanks to Shillman Hall, you have the best chairs and I attribute some of my As to your classrooms. Kariotis Hall, on the other hand, gets no gratitude from me. Thanks to Lake Hall and Meserve Hall: I figured out your maze, finally. Thanks to Snell Library for putting books where they do not belong and making me look endlessly for them.

Thanks to the editors, reporters and journalism professors who not only taught me the inverted pyramid, where a lead goes and the ultimate rule of journalism: when it's wrong, the first thing you do is get it right; but also listened to me, gossiped on a good day and were always willing to help me in any endeavor. I admire your passion for this profession. Thanks to the professor who once told me 90 percent of life is showing up, but let me figure out the other 10 percent on my own.

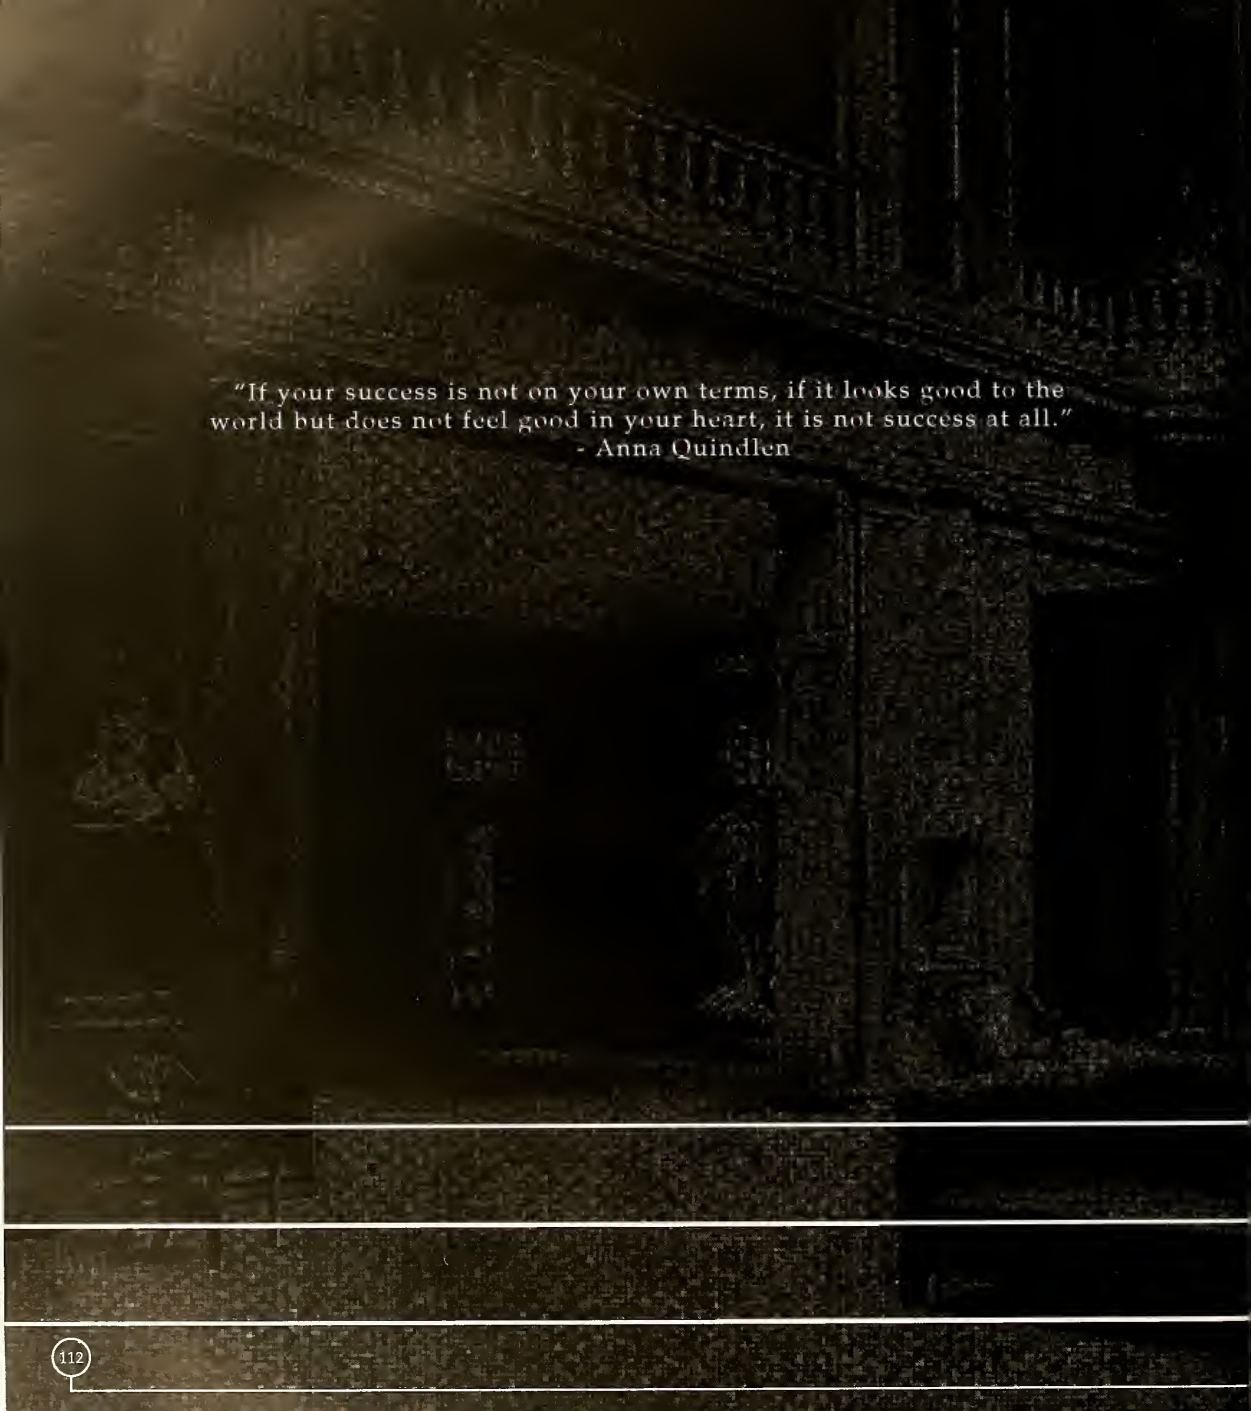
Last but not least.

Thanks for that day, etched in my memory. That day was the day my parents dropped me off at my dorm, and tried to prolong the goodbye as much as they could. That was the day my mother remained strong trying to block her tears, but my father who was normally shy around his young daughter, embraced me, cried, and patted me on the head with a touch of warmth that still sends shivers down my spine. I always remembered that feeling of love and never let it go. I didn't know what I would do without them, but they reassured me that I would do good things, get a good education and learn a thing or two about growing up. I did. I had to.

They always knew the right thing to say when things looked low and rejoiced with me when things looked up. They supported their only daughter so much that they encouraged her to travel across the country, against cultural taboos and much to the chagrin of some family members, and said "Afsha, you can do it." For that, I am eternally grateful. Though I've said it countless times. Thanks again, to the best friends a girl could have. Thanks Mom and Dad. You deserve this diploma as much as I do.

It's funny ... I always said I couldn't find what I was looking for, but I guess I always knew, I just had to travel thousands of miles to realize it. That's irony for ya.

Good luck class of 2003, I hope you find what you're looking for.



"If your success is not on your own terms, if it looks good to the world but does not feel good in your heart, it is not success at all."
- Anna Quindlen

To the graduating class of 2003:

Putting this book together as a middler, I have tried my best to capture the flavor of your class. You have seen Northeastern in a way no one else ever will again, and a way no one knows but you.

You, as seniors, still sometimes slip and call Shillman the "classroom building," can remember it before it was painted over with primary colors and had a Dunkin' Donuts inside; You can remember a time before upperclassmen housing was an orange high-rise by Wentworth or two buildings stretching across a majority of Columbus Ave; and you know that the best house to be on a Thursday night isn't my house or your house...but OUR HOUSE.

Those of you that I have been blessed enough to meet in my short three years here, I respect and admire more than words could even hope to express. I have watched you, awestruck and anxious to see what you will achieve in future years. I have seen your leadership, understanding, compassion, intelligence, and wisdom, and tried to emulate myself after your example. I have seen you gracefully fail, and be triumphantly victorious without ever being a sore loser, or ever bragging of your accomplishments, as praise-deserved as they were. Understand that as a whole, your class has shaped those you will never know, and this is only the beginning.

I can only hope that what my staff and I have put together does your class justice. I wish the best for all of you in your futures. If ever you do not feel completely confident that you will make the best of any situation, excel past graduates of other colleges, or at all lose faith in yourself and your abilities, please look over this book again. I hope that years from now, you will pull this book off of a shelf in your office, glancing over your degrees and accomplishments that will eventually decorate your walls, and be confident that your years at Northeastern shaped you to be a person of more worth than most will ever know is even possible.

You have successfully let go of an old home to embrace a new one, in a city that isn't always the warmest place to be. You have made it through sub-zero Boston winters, and soaked up the August sun in the Fens. You have above all, spent the last five years leaping before looking and loving every second; blindly following your ambitions and being gloriously rewarded; and have ultimately chosen the road less traveled - to make a difference.

My most sincere congratulations,

Marissa E. Hussey

How can you help protect the desert and the dolphin?
Simple. Ask your employer about Earth Share.
The workplace giving program that brings the leading environmental groups under one umbrella. And over 90% of Earth Share contributions go directly to the groups. To learn more please visit our website at www.earthshare.org.
